

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

[0051]

The invention provides a flexible, extensible and customizable architecture for supporting e-commerce applications. The system allows the integration of extensible modules with a software bus providing access to common e-commerce services. Thus, the invention eliminates the need for creating a custom architecture for supporting desired services.

0992750-11501
TOPTT-0923550